OWEN MORAN IS THE BETTER MAN

Englishman With the Irish Name Puts It All Over Frankie Neil.

LOSER ALL IN IN SIXTEENTH

SECONDS MERCIFULLY THROW UP THE SPONGE.

San Francisco, Nov. 22.—Owen Moran, of England, and Frankie Neil, the bantamweight champion of America, met here tonight in a scheduled 20-round boxing contest.

While no championship title was involved, the fact that the winner will soon meet Abe Attell for the world's featherweight title greatly accentuated interest in the outcome. Moran was forced into favoritism this evening at odds of 10 to 9, with prospects that he would enter the ring at odds of 10 to 8. This remarkable change in the betting odds is said to have been caused by large amounts telegraphed from the east to place on the Englishman.

Both lads weighed in at 6 o'clock. Neil failed to tremble the beam at the 122-pound mark. He later gave out his weight at 117 pounds. Moran exceeded the contracted 122 pounds by from one-quarter to one-half a pound. Jim Neil, on behalf of Frankie Neil, overlooked the fact that Moran was overweight and declined to claim a forfeit. Seven thousand people filled the pavilion when time was called at 9:55 p. m.

Fight by Rounds.

Round 1.—Neil rushed in, forcing his man to the ropes without landing. Moran quickly shot right and left to the jaw and at close range swung twice

Round 3.—They fought to close quarters and Neil broke it up with a stiff left to the jaw. Neil drove Moran back with a left to the face, and they mixed it furiously at close range, Moran doing great execution with short-arm wallops to the face and head. Moran appeared to slow up somewhat.

Round 4.—Neil like lightning sent two lefts to the jaw and then followed some remarkable fighting at close quarters, both trying desperately to put in a knockout punch. The round was slightly Neil's.

Moran the Better Man.

Round 5.—Moran uppeared with right to the jaw and then slipped to his knees as Neil backed him against the ropes. He was up quickly and almost sent Neil to the floor with two right hooks and a straight left to the jaw. The bell ended a round that was the Englishman's by a wide margin. Neil appeared a bit tired.

Round 6.—Moran swung his right to the jaw and Neil went to the floor for the count of nine. He was up quickly and tried to stall off the relentless Briton. Moran, however, forced Neil from one end of the ring to the other, landing vicious left and right swings by large amounts telegraphed from the east to place on the Englishman.

Round 7.—Moran shot his left to the face and a moment later uppeared with left to the jaw, Neil countering with two lefts to the stomach that forced Moran to the ropes. Neil whipped several body blows as the round ended. Neil seemed to have freshened and made a good showing in this round.

Neil Makes a Showing.

Round 8.—Neil almost sent Moran through the ropes with a hard left wallop to the body. He repeated it later during a vicious exchange and the middle of the ring. Neil punished Moran considerably around the body as the round came to an end. Neil had the advantage of this round.

Round 9.—The pace slackened considerably at this stage. Neil hooked two lefts to the head and then shot his left to the body. Moran retaliating with right to the jaw. A vicious right swing caught Moran on the neck and a moment later Neil swung his left hard to the jaw. Neil had a good lead in this round.

Round 10.—Moran swung right to the body and made Neil groggy with two lefts to the jaw. Neil hung on desperately, but Moran went after him determinedly. Moran swung a fearful left to the jaw, and then almost sent his man through the ropes with left and right swings to the jaw. Neil

Letter From Louisiana.

Mrs. A. C. Brainard of Jennings, La., wrote on April 21, 1904: "Please send me three bottles Graefenberg. Children's Panacea for the cholera. We used it many years ago, in Minnesota, for our children, and now we would like to get some for our little grandsons, so that his teeth may come easier and quicker. I consider it the best medicine for the little ones that I ever knew of. It saved my son's life when he was an infant, thirty-five years ago."

"There must be great merit in a remedy which produces such records. Advertising alone could not keep a child's medicine in such high favor for so many years."

Gans and Nelson Agree on Terms

Minneapolis, Nov. 22.—After a conference of many hours today Joe Gans and Battling Nelson agreed on all the details of their proposed fight except the weight. Nelson insists that Gans shall fight at 133 pounds in his fighting garb. No articles have been signed as yet, but the men agree that the winner shall receive 75 per cent of the receipts and the loser 25 per cent. The fight will be at Goldfield at a date to be determined later. Nelson will remain in Minneapolis with the expectation of signing articles before he leaves.

Professor R. R. Lyman spoke at chapel at the University yesterday morning. "Honesty in Life" was the theme of his talk.
